About the race:

Endure24, a 24h relay race where endurance knows no bounds. A thrilling mix of anticipation and adrenaline to test you mental and physical fitness against on the backdrop of beautiful trails. Run as a solo or as a team as you push yourself and each other further. The only question remains is How far will you go?

There's nothing quite like the atmosphere you'll find at Endure24, from the incredible support of your fellow participants and those watching on, to the festival style campsite with all the food and drink your heart (and stomach) desires!

About the Venue:

Bramham Park is a Grade 1 listed 18th-century country house in Bramham, situated between Leeds and Wetherby, in West Yorkshire, England.

The house is surrounded by a 500-acre landscaped park ornamented by a series of follies and avenues laid out in the 18th-century landscape tradition, surrounded by 1,235 acres of arable farmland. Bramham park is used annually for the Leeds Festival.
